1. Consider your feeding documentation. Are there changes that could be made in order to improve the quality of information provided? What steps could be taken to ensure that certain information is captured by all clinicians?
2. Consider your feeding population. Are they receiving care in the appropriate setting / therapeutic model based on their needs? Does my organization have the right partners?
3. Consider your assessment tools. Are there additional tools that should be considered for use? How is the information obtained used to drive care?
4. Consider the ICF Model. Does my staff understand it with regard to the feeding client?
