

Hospital Responding	Does your department loan wheelchairs for inpatient use (post surgical, post trauma, or if the individual's adaptive seating is unavailable)?	What department in your hospital is responsible for cleaning the wheelchair when the inpatient is discharged?	For a wheelchair that is well used during an inpatient stay, what technique is used to ensure cleanliness before the next patient use?	Does your hospital use strollers to transport infants?	What type of infant strollers does your hospital purchase?	Who is responsible for cleaning the stroller?	Most generic infant strollers are fabric and the IFU tends to be vague. Do you use any specific procedure to ensure cleanliness of a hospital purchased infant stroller used with inpatients?
ORG A	Yes. We work with a small nonprofit. They are a re-use program in our state that accepts donations of gently used adaptive equipment, cleans and refurbishes it, and then provides it at no cost to children with disabilities that reside or	The chair is cleaned by Therapy Services staff if it is going to stay in the inpatient closet for further inpatient use. Some of these chairs actually go home with the patient when discharged.	We have a process that each piece of equipment must go through after it is used. The chair is taken apart. The soft goods are laundered. The entire wheelchair frame is scrubbed down with household cleanser and water. The	We do use positioning strollers for infants as needed, also through the non-profit these are only used for infants that have a need for adaptive positioning strollers.	NA	Infants using positioning strollers- same as the wheelchair above	We are only using positioning strollers, so they can be stripped and cleaned the same as the wheelchairs receive medical care in our state at no cost.		frame is then steam-cleaned with a hand held steam cleaner. It is then allowed to air-dry. Once dry, it is disinfected with Oxivr. It is then reassembled. If any problems with the chair are identified during the cleaning or refurbishing process- we then have one of our wheelchair technicians look at it to insure that it is safe for continued use.

ORG B	We have transitioned to a newer style chair that legs do not remove and the entire chair is hard plastic.	Rehab or floor, whoever the chair belongs to. Patient care floors have chairs they might use as well as	Nothing different really	Yes, very few umbrella strollers	Floors Umbrella strollers. Rehab has one, but I am unaware of brand. It has a basket under for monitor and reclines. We	Rehab	Lysol parts we can't remove and clean. Use a lot of blankets/sheets or chuck pad as barrier between rehab. Whoever owns the chair, cleans it.			place a blanket over all fabric and then swaddle as well. Lysol to clean straps that do not come off.		patient and fabric.

ORG C	yes	We clean our own WCs. Our Rehab Aides do it.	We have a process for when a chair is returned and have clean/dirty tags.	no	NA	NA	NA
ORG D		We have a department (equipment depot/patient transport) that maintain and clean the wheelchairs for use with inpatients.			Use wagons
	We have a few wheelchairs on the floor that are used during therapy sessions, but don't specifically loan	Wheelchairs are cleaned after each use, by staff member returning it to storage space, and again before use by	Again, not usually used by one patient for prolonged periods of time (what I would qualify as "well used"), so		No. Occasionally use wipeable wagons for smaller patients, though.

	them out as replacements for individual's adaptive seating. There are also a small number of wheelchairs on the floor for patients to use while admitted, but usually these are not left with patients – used with specific instructions or with staff, or for training purposes only.	staff member retrieving it from storage. (to ensure cleanliness)	standard sanitization practices are sufficient. We often will use pull sheets or pads under patient to minimize contact with the chair surface as well.
ORG E	We do have a stock of wheelchair for patients to use while in house until they are dismissed or can get their custom seating. There are 3 options for wheelchairs: Rehab owned-	Our therapy technicians are responsible for disinfecting them and managing the repairs/safety. Vendor- We also work with a vendor who rents chairs for patients to use in the hospital			Wagons

	Small stock are purchased by our department and keep in our storage.	The rental ones are managed by them
ORG F	Yes we have a few loaners PT owns and distributes. For standard MWC we use a centralized process for distribution and cleaning.	PT	We disinfect using oxivir spray on all surfaces keeping surface wet x 3 minutes.	No- there are custom built carts if needed.
ORG G	Rehab has reclining, elevated leg rest etc – and only for our patients. We assess the need and have the patient use our chair until discharge. They are specially marked to come back to our department before discharge.	Our rehab tech cleans them and identifies if repairs are needed.		We do not have strollers for smaller children unless the family brings one in.			